

Course Rep Awards - Winners Gallery

In May 2016 we held our first ever Course Rep awards to celebrate the amazing achievements of some outstanding Course Reps. VP Voice 2015/16, Munya, was joined by the Vice Chancellor, Professor Max Lu to present the awards.

Milena Toshkova was our FASS Rep of the Year. She tackled issues such as lack of feedback from staff, lack of staff knowledge of the exchange programme and introducing more field trips for students.

Naomi Hannaway was our FHMS Rep of the Year. She engaged with the Union throughout the year, keeping us up to date with her achievements frequently. She helped to create a new standardised feedback form for all UG Psychology assignments and had a deadline extended by 3 days for her whole cohort.

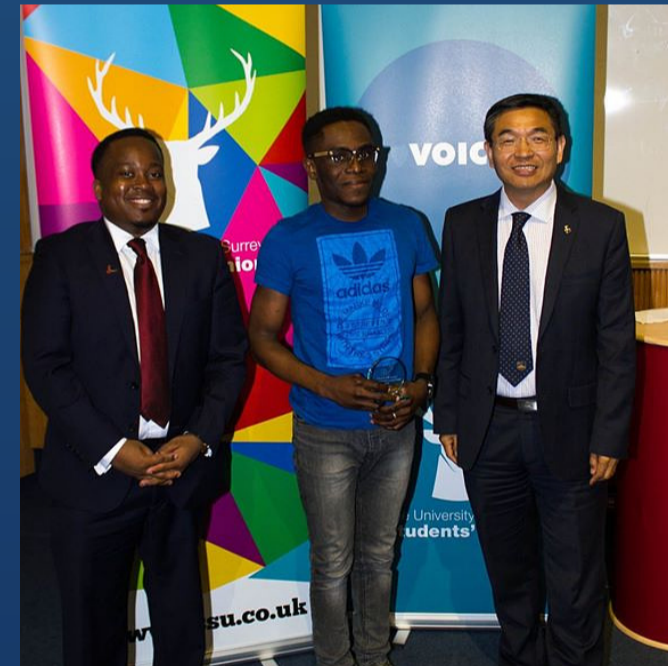

Hannah Dunn won the award for FHMS Rep of the Year. Hannah raised the issue of missing feedback throughout her year as a Rep. Hannah was successful in securing assignment feedback this year and she has helped improve the process for future students.

Alex Harden was awarded the PGR Rep of the Year. Alex has been one of the most prominent PGR Reps this year. He has attended and contributed at Rep Assembly, as well as NUS Course Rep and Postgraduate Student Conferences. He is always keen to engage with the Students' Union to bring PGR issues to our attention.

Mai Anh Pham was our Best New Rep of the Year. Mai Anh has worked hard as a Rep to raise issues about the quality of her degree, including querying the balance of teaching between major and minor subjects and also the issue of duplication between modules. This was raised at a Rep Assembly and will be rectified for next year's cohort.

Simon Opara was our Most Engaged Rep of the Year. Simon has been a very enthusiastic Course Rep. He has attended Course Rep Conference and also taken part in a Review as a student panel member. He has attended all Course Rep assemblies and is always keen to be involved.

Caroline was our Rep who had the Most Impact this year. Caroline worked hard over the summer to ensure that cancelled modules were reinstated on her course and also so her fellow Media students had the option to take more practical modules.

Chris Pidgeon was the winner of the Longstanding Rep of the Year award. Chris has been at the forefront of Course Reps who have raised issues about the Music department, in particular Performance modules. He has gathered student opinion, liaised with reps across years and courses and worked with University staff to try and resolve the issues that have arisen
